NEGRO ADMITS ROBBING POE STORE HERE

William Moore Arrested in Indianapolis Last Friday 5 Hours After Theft Here, on Suspicion

TRIED TO PAWN THE JEWELRY

Indianapolis Police Held Him Because of Word That Hoopston, Ill., Store Had Been Robbed

THE JEWELRY IS IDENTIFIED

While Being Brought Here Today by Sheriff and Jesse Poe, Negro Confesses to Robbery

A colored man, giving his name as William Moore, today confessed to the breaking of the window at the William B. Poe and Son jewelry store in this city early Friday morning, after having been arrested five hours after the robbery, in Indianapolis, and detained there until a clue to a robbery in which he was suspected of being implicated could be located. He was arrested on suspicion because of the jewelry he had.

The colored man was returned here this afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock from Indianapolis by Sheriff S. L. Hunt, after Jesse Poe had identified some of the stolen articles that were taken from the show window, when the glass was broken.

It was learned Monday morning by Mr. Poe that the robber also had escaped with a case of eight rings, as well as the three wrist watches, which placed his total loss at about $200. All of the jewelry except one watch, was recovered, and the negro denied that he had gotten this watch.

The colored man did not admit his guilt until he was enroute to this city on the car, having told the Indianapolis police that he had obtained the jewelry in Chicago.

The Indianapolis police had been notified earlier in the week to watch for a colored man answering his description, who had robbed a jewelry store in Hoopston, Ill., and when he appeared at a pawn brokers office at 9 o'clock Friday morning, just five hours after he had broken the glass here, the police arrested him.

W. W. SNIFF DRAWS LESSONS FROM WAR

Former Rushville Pastor, Now of Union City, Speaks to Rotary Club—Other Guests Present

INVITATION TO CONNERSVILLE

The Rev. W. W. Sniff of Union City, Ind., formerly pastor of the Main Street Christian church, addressed the Rotary club at the regular noon meeting today, drawing some lessons from the war and commenting upon the good that can be accomplished by the noon lunch clubs in drawing men closer together and bringing them to realize that the brotherhood of man is the foundation for all advancement.

The Rev. Mr. Sniff was reminiscent, recalling that it was twenty years when he began his pastorate and here, and how those he knew as boys had grown to manhood. The Rev. Mr. Sniff is a member of the Kiwanis club.

The club accepted an invitation to be the guests of the Connersville Rotary club some night during the week of July 3 when a speaker of national reputation will deliver an address. A letter from W. O. Feudner, the local club's delegate to the international convention at Los Angeles, Calif., this week, written enroute, was read at the meeting.

Other guests beside the Rev. Mr. Sniff were his son, Leslie Sniff, Ralph Himelick of Connersville, judge-elect of the Fayette circuit court, William Sparks and George C. Wyatt of this city.

Police Gets Invitation To Convention by Radio

Chief of Police Will O'Neill received an invitation Monday night by wireless to attend a convention of police chiefs to be held in San Francisco on June 19, when Edward Sentman of the radio department at Poe's Jewelry store, at his station in North Harrison street, picked up the radiogram sent out from Kansas City to all police heads in the country. He copied the message, which was in telegraphic code, and delivered it to the Rushville chief today.

IN COURT TODAY ON A CONTEMPT CHARGE

Anthony Locke, Connersville Business Man, Accused of Failing to Comply With Decree

JUDGE KETCHUM DISQUALIFIED

Anthony Locke, a business man of Connersville, who was defendant in a divorce suit heard here last winter in which Emmogene Locke, his wife, was granted a divorce, support money and over $3,000 alimony, was in court today on a charge of contempt, it being alleged that he has failed to comply with the court orders on the attorney fees and other expenses.

Monday afternoon Special Judge Gates Ketchum, who heard the case and granted the divorce, sustained the defendant's motion disqualifying him to have jurisdiction in matters pertaining to the divorce, and Judge Sparks assumed jurisdiction.

Evidence concerning the financial condition of the divorced husband occupied most of the court today on the question of contempt. Following the granting of the divorce, the defendant had obtained permission to appeal to the Supreme court, but did not do so, and he also was refused a motion for a new trial, but these matters were before Gates Ketchum, who was disqualified from serving.

AUTHORIZED TO ERECT SIGN POSTS ON ROADS

Steffenguide Corporation Granted Permission by Commissioners—Asks Bonds be Reissued

CONTRACTOR BEFORE BOARD

The Steffenguide Corporation was granted authority by the county commissioners at their regular June meeting this week to erect sign posts at all cross roads in the county, which will direct travelers in all directions. The signs will bear advertisements and will be erected free of charge. The concern will sell guide books which will direct travelers, by means of the signs, to any point in the county.

George W. Miller, who was given the contract for the John Power et al. paved highway north of Rushville a few years ago, petitioned the commissioners to reissue the bonds for the roads. The bonds were destroyed last year because the contractor failed to construct the road on account of the high price of material and labor during and immediately following the war. No action was taken by the board on the petition.

Frank Catt, county surveyor, was authorized to draw up plans and specifications for the A. J. Morrison and John Brown bridges in Walker township.

Edward G. Newby and Paul L. Daubenspeck of New Salem were appointed constables of the Rush County Horse Thief Detective Association.

MAJOR FOUND GUILTY

Camp Dix, N. J. June 6.—For going over the heads of his superior officers and writing a letter to President Harding charging the service with being "Prussianized" Major Malcolm Wheeler Nicholson was found guilty of a technical violation of army regulations by a general court martial here last night. He was fined fifty files, which puts him in the rear of fifty majors whom he ranked for promotion.

INTEREST IN THE RELICS INCREASES

Old Pictures of Pioneers Appearing in Windows For Centennial Drawing Attention

BIG DISPLAY IN NEW BUILDING

Implements and Other Heavy Articles May be Brought in Saturday—Collection of Old Coins

The interest that is being manifested in relics in Rush county indicates that the display at the Rush county Centennial, to be held Wednesday and Thursday of next week, will be one of the things that will hold the most interest for Centennial visitors.

Displays of old pictures that are appearing in store windows in Rushville have attracted more than passing attention. Rushville business men are planning many attractive exhibits in connection with their own lines of business which will be second only to the major display of relics to be made in the Mullins and Taylor building in West First street under the auspices of the Centennial relics committee.

Mrs. Guy Abercrombie, chairman of this committee, announced today that persons having old implements or other heavy articles to be displayed, may leave them at the Mullins and Taylor building Saturday, if it will not be convenient to bring them to Rushville the first of next week. The committee did not expect to begin arranging the exhibit before early next week, but some farmers who expect to offer some old-fashioned implements for the exhibit ask permission to bring them to Rushville Saturday. Mrs. Abercrombie said that they would be safe in the building over Sunday as it would be locked.

Two large group pictures of pioneers of the county, which were found in the store room of the court house and have been placed in the store windows of Frank Wilson & Co., and the Oren pharmacy, have attracted more than ordinary attention because they contain the photographs of the ancestors of many Rush county people.

Another exhibit that has caught the interest of many is a collection of old coins belonging to Howard Clawson of Manilla, who was principal of the Havens school building.

PROGRESSIVE IS VICTOR IN IOWA

Returns From Close To Two-Thirds Of Precincts Give Brookhart Safe Lead For Senator

POLLS 40 PER CENT OF VOTE

Third Successive Defeat For "Old Guard" Of Republican Party In State Primaries Recently

Des Moines, Iowa, June 6.—Iowa has apparently handed the "old guard" of the Republican party its third successive defeat in the state senatorial primaries.

Smith W. Brookhart, progressive, on the basis of present returns, has been named Republican candidate for United States senator from the state, polling more than the required 35 per cent of the total vote in a field of six candidates.

The other two primaries where the "old guard" went down in surprising defeat, where in Indiana where Albert Beveridge was chosen candidate and in Pennsylvania where Gifford Pinchot was successful in triumphing over the old Penrose machine.

Returns from close to two-thirds of the precincts in Monday's primary election compiled at this hour gave for republican nomination for United States senator; Brookhart 72,455 (39.8 per cent of the total); Pickett 31,498; Thorne 29,151; Francis 23,499; Sweet, 18,090; Stanley 7,349.

The lead of the progressive over five other candidates steadily increased as reports piled up from scattered precincts throughout the state.

In 1,206 precincts reported out of 2,348 in the state, Brookhart polled 60,346 votes or 38.7 per cent of the total; Pickett had 28,639; Thorne 24,080; Francis 20,337; Sweet 16,222.

Most of the vote thus far tabulated is from cities where Brookhart was expected to show his greatest weakness. Rural districts yet to be heard from are regarded as Brookhart strongholds.

Charles Pickett, favorite of the conservatives, was running a poor second. Brookhart was out-polling him two to one in almost every precinct.

REHEARSAL THURS. NIGHT

Community Orchestra Urges Musicians of County to Join

The community orchestra will hold a rehearsal at the court house assembly room Thursday night in preparation for concerts which will be given by the orchestra during the Centennial celebration, it was announced today by Miss Sarah I. McConnell, director.

The organization will appreciate it, the director stated, if all musicians of the county will join the organization for the Centennial appearance. It is urged that they attend the rehearsal Thursday evening and prepare for the event. The members of the community orchestra believe that the organization should be representative of the whole county on such an occasion as the one next week.

MAN CONVICTED HERE IS SEEKING CLEMENCY

Cecil Collins, Ex-Clerk of Shelby County, Sentenced Two Years Ago From Here, Makes a Plea

WILL BE HEARD ON JUNE 14

Cecil B. Collins, ex-clerk of the Shelby circuit court, who was tried and convicted of embezzlement in the court here about two years ago, when the matter was sent here on a change of venue, has applied for clemency, as the last resort to keep him from serving the one to five year sentence imposed by the local jury. His hearing will come up before the pardon board on June 14.

Collins appealed his case from Shelbyville, and it was sent here, where the conviction was obtained. After that, he appealed the case to the supreme court, where they affirmed the decision of the local court, and only recently he applied for a rehearing by the supreme court, which was denied a few weeks ago.

During the two years since sentence was passed on him here, it is said that he and his family have been residing in Texas, and it is understood that he is located in that state now, but his bondsmen are liable until he begins to serve his sentence.

WAGES OF RAIL SHOPMEN ARE CUT

United States Labor Board Loops $60,000,000 a Year Off The Pay of Employees

$500,000 MEN ARE AFFECTED

Carriers Told Board More Men Would be Employed if Reductions Were Allowed

(By United Press)
Chicago, Ill., June 6.—A strike vote was ordered today among the 50,000 members of the federated railroad shop craft unions, following announcement of the United States railroad labor board of a $60,000,000 wage cut.

The shop workers will vote whether to walk out in protest to the reduction in pay. The result will be made known, June 30, the day before the new scale goes into effect.

This is the second railroad labor organization to send out strike ballots following a wage slash. The first were the maintenance of way workers sent out ballots following a $50,000,000 slash.

Chicago, June 6.—Wages of railroad shop employees were cut $60,000,000 a year today by the United States railroad labor board. Five hundred thousand men, under normal conditions, are affected.

The board's decision follows closely the one reducing maintenance of the way employees' wages $50,000,000 a year.

The largest divisions of shop and equipment maintenance employees—machinists, boilermakers, blacksmiths and electricians—are reduced seven cents an hour. Pay of freight carmen is cut nine cents an hour and car cleaners five cents.

In petitioning for a reduction in pay of shop workers, the carriers told the board that a cut would mean that more men would be employed to repair the equipment of the roads.

Carriers contended that because of high prevailing wages, rolling stock had deteriorated for lack of funds to hire men to do the work.

The board said in its opinion that the cut represented a decrease in the cost of living.

In dissenting opinion signed by A. O. Wharton, Albert Phillips and W. L. McNeen, representing labor, it was pointed out that the old scale of wages does not enable "shop craft families, with the most economical management, to procure enough food." The labor members were in favor of an increase.

"At the current prices an increase in pay would be necessary to enable these employees to secure a standard of living expressed in goods."

"The failure of the majority to consider the real merits of the case has created a wage structure which has no relation to existing standards."

The decision, which has been anticipated for some time, will mean a strike vote of railroad employees involved, Bert M. Jewell, president of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor, said.

Final plans for the vote are to be mapped out in a meeting to be held in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 6.—Leaders of railroad unions met here today to fight slashes in pay of railroad workers by the United States railroad labor board which totalled $110,000,000 in the last two weeks.

According to William Johnson, the president of the machinists union, the conference does not possess the power to call a strike but will lay plans for strike votes.

Johnson, the members of whose unions were cut from 77 cents to 70 cents an hour, charged that the railroad labor board which was appointed to safeguard the public interests was unjustified in making the cut.

The conference was called in anticipation of the $60,000,000 slash announced by the board today.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, arrived to attend the labor sessions.

Saving and Serving

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stands squarely on the principle that the man who saves and invests is a better citizen as well as a happier and more useful employee than the one who lives "from hand to mouth" and spends his income as fast as he earns it.

To promote the habit of saving, and to insure that feeling of security in the future, which frees a man's mind from worry, enabling him to give all his energy to creative activities, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) a year ago put into effect, for its employees, a stock investment plan.

Under this plan an employee may save as much as 20 percent of his yearly wage. To every dollar thus saved the Company adds 50c. This money is invested in stock of the Company as fast as sufficient money accumulates to buy one share; for instance, if a man or woman saves $560.00 a year the Company adds thereto one-half of that amount, or $280.00, which will buy 10 shares at the established price for 1922.

Whether or not he takes advantage of this plan is optional with the employee. The fact, however, that the majority of the employees who have been with the Company one year, or more, have availed themselves of the opportunity is convincing evidence that the plan meets a definite need.

Since the plan went into operation it has been apparent that the employees take a greater interest, not only in the work which engages their attention, but what is more important, in the service the Company renders the public.

This is not surprising, for a man with money invested has a stronger interest in a business, and a keener appreciation of its value to the community than a man who has never assumed this responsibility.

Therefore, this stock investment plan for employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an important factor in continually improving the service rendered the public by the Company.

It is but another evidence of the care and forethought exercised by the management in its endeavor to perfect an organization which shall render to the public a maximum of sustained service.

of perfect results on bake-day. Don't spend your time in preparing bakings that contain expensive ingredients and be disappointed when you take them out of the oven. Use not because it's the biggest selling brand on earth, but because it is absolutely the most dependable and economical of all leaveners.

When you employ Calumet Baking Powder you know that your bakings will raise properly because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength.

Don't waste energy and money on uncertain baking powder — use Calumet, the "pure and sure" brand.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Freight Rate Reductions

Since the interstate commerce commission reduced freight rates ten percent, there has been much speculation in many quarters as to what effect it would have on the cost of living. The prevailing opinion appears to be that the reduction will serve to stimulate business rather than cut prices any appreciable amount.

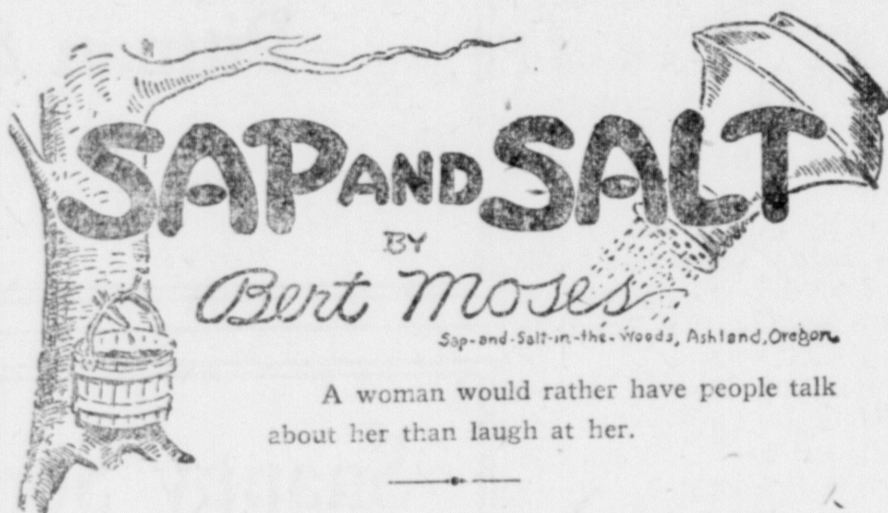

A careful review of the situation prepared by the National Retail Dry Goods association holds to this view—that the lower freight rates should help prove national conditions of business, but that the average person will not feel any tangible results for the present.

The direct advantages will be felt in those lines of industry, such as construction, where materials utilized are conspicuous for bulk and weight. Here the reduction in costs, amounting in volume sufficiently to influence consumption, bids fair to stimulate production, increase employment and appreciably expand the buying capacity of the public. Through such indirect channels the effect should finally be felt in the dry goods trade.

The direct effect of the reduction on dry goods and other merchandise sold in department and similar retail stores, however, will be very slight. Against yearly sales in dry goods at retail amounting to $7,000,000,000 freight charges against so negligibly as to have no immediate effect.

Expressed in actual figures, the best estimates available show freight charges amounting to no more than 3 per cent of merchandise cost, as the average, on merchandise received by stores located in and near to the great manufacturing centers in the East, the percentage rising with the additional mileage westward. In Eastern manufacturing centers such as New York City, a considerable bulk of the merchandise carries no

AMUSEMENTS

Last Showing For Today.

"Peaceful Valley," the well known Sol Smith Russell success, which has a record of 5,207 stage performances, has at last been transferred to the screen, with Charles Ray, the popular cinema star, playing the leading role in his favorite part of a "hick."

The production, which was adapted by Isabel Johnston from the stage play by Edward E. Kidder, will be the attraction at the Princess for the last showing today.

It is Mr. Ray's second release through Associated First National Pictures as an independent producer.

Jerome Storm directed the production of "Peaceful Valley" and prominent in the cast supporting Charles Ray are Harry Myers, Lincoln Stedman, Walter Perkins, Wm. Courtwright, Vincent C. Hamilton, Jesse Herring, Ann May, Lydia Knott, Charlotte Pierce, Melba Lorraine and Ida Lewis.

"Peaceful Valley" was for years one of the most popular footlight attractions in America. Sol Smith Russell, playing the leading role, registered his greatest success in it. As a vehicle for Charles Ray, it is declared to be especially suitable, and in it the young star is said to have done some of the greatest work of his screen career.

Ann May, the charming little motion picture actress, who has been Charles Ray's leading woman in many other pictures, has the chief feminine role in "Peaceful Valley."

At The Mystic Today.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox, the great American poetess, who recently died, wrote in her own way something about it being easy to smile when life goes along like a song, but that it is mighty hard to smile when everything goes wrong.

Be that as it may, the photoplay, "Fieckle Women," in which David Butler is to make his first appearance on the screen of the Mystic for the last time today, is a story of a smile that has a kick to it.

We have all heard about the hero laughs last—well, the young hero of this photoplay laughs first, last and all the time. Smiles when things are against him, and when with the aid of his good husky fists he cleans up a few doubts, he just continues to smile.

The young hero returns home, bedecked with all kinds of medals to find that a slacker, in order to steal his girl away, has resorted to slander of the vilest kind.

But with the exercise of plenty of good old Yankee pep, and a few Yankee wallops he vindicates his good name and marries the girl of his choice.

The women folks will like this picture, for it overflows with human interest and bubbles over with good healthy humor.

Babe Ruth Will Be Adjusted by a Chiropractor When Sick

Yankee Baseball Club to Keep Crack Athletes in Pink of Condition by Chiropractic

By WALTER SHERIDAN

The great Bambino, "Babe" Ruth, King of Swat, who is worth his weight not only in gold to the Yankee Baseball Club, champions of the American League for 1921, but in platinum as well, will be kept in the pink of physical condition this season by a Chiropractor. And together with the home run, fence-busting marvel to come under the physical care of a Chiropractor will be the entire Yankee roster of athletes, including the sensational Waite Hoyt, Carl Mays, "Long Bob" Meusel, Wally Pipp, Aaron Ward, Wally Schang and Elmer Miller. Even the bat boy won't be exempted in this drastic drive to keep the crack athletes in proper trim throughout the training and playing season so they can be kept free from ailments of all sorts.

Our hats are off to Miller Huggins, the stocky and aggressive little manager of the Yankees, who brought his teammates to a pennant victory for the first time in the history of the club, and who is mainly responsible for introducing a Chiropractor into the organization to see that his men are in perfect physical condition.

That Manager Huggins has seen fit to employ a Chiropractor to look after the ailments of his million dollar aggregation of ball players, speaks very highly for this new healing science. And his strong faith in Chiropractic as a true health healing science is further emphasized by the fact that he has stuck to his decision in the face of the most severe and unfounded attacks on Chiropractic by the medical profession.

Dr. A. A. Woods, now living at the Sidney Hotel, New York City, is the Chiropractor who will adjust the sterling athletes whenever the occasion warrants. Dr. Woods is now in his senior year at the Carver Chiropractic Institute and has been a trainer for the Yankees for the past five years. He is himself a crack athlete, having been a professional trainer for more than twenty years.

When Edward Barrow, well known baseball figure, and at present business manager of the Yankees was asked concerning the employment of a Chiropractor to look after the health of the ball players, he stated that Miller Huggins was for it very strong and had come to this conclusion only after a thorough investigation of the science.

In an interview with Dr. Woods, he said:

"Yes, I am now almost through with my Chiropractic course and I am preparing to keep the Yankee ball team in the pink of condition. You know we have one of the most valuable aggregations of athletes in the country and they must be kept in proper trim throughout the playing season or we jeopardize our chances of winning the American League pennant again, for which, by the way, we are now headed.

"I believe Chiropractic is a wonderful health healing science and through its application expect to keep the members of the team in better condition this spring than ever before. In past seasons we have suffered all kinds of hard luck in regard to the incapacitation of the leading players. Their absence through sickness has virtually cost us a few pennants in seasons gone by. You can say for me that we are going to keep our players in prime condition and that we are out for another flag."

Leading Chiropractors when apprised of the acquisition of a Chiropractor on the Yankee ball team, were unanimous in their expression of approval over the keen insight into the science displayed by the Yankee management in their decision to have a Chiropractor adjust the athletes for their ills.

"It shows that officials of the club really know what Chiropractic is," said one practitioner.

"And I can say further that if ball players, who must necessarily be kept in fine physical condition, can be given over to a Chiropractor for adjustment, then it certainly follows that the general public should have little hesitancy in calling upon Chiropractors generally for relief from their ailments." — The Chiropractic News, New York.

It also contains some of the old postage currency which few people of the present generation have ever seen. It was large and bulky paper money which was good only for postage. The two pieces in the display are five and ten-cent denominations.

Probably the most interesting pieces in the display are several of the old "Shin Plasters," fractional currency issued during the civil war. The denominations in the collection are three, five, ten, fifteen, twenty-five and fifty cents.

There are also a number of gold pieces issued at different periods, some as low as twenty-five cents, and pieces of practically all of the silver and copper pieces ever minted by the United States.

Mrs. Earl H. Payne has an old tally paper used in the election in Orange township, Fayette county, which was held the second day of October in 1860. It is prized very highly by her and will be a part of the relics exhibit at the Centennial.

Harvey Wright, a relative of Mrs. Payne's, was one of the judges at the election, which accounts for her having it in her possession.

One of the most interesting things about the tally paper is that it contains the names of some famous Indiana men who were then candidates for office. Thomas A. Hendricks led the Democratic ticket as a candidate for governor and Henry S. Lane was the republican candidate for lieutenant-governor, and Benjamin Harrison, later president of the United States, appeared on the republican ticket as a candidate for reporter of decisions in the supreme court.

him. He had just pawned the two wrist watches for $10 apiece.

When the Indianapolis police searched him, they found the rings, and several other pieces of jewelry which answered the description of the goods taken from the Illinois city. They were awaiting word from Illinois, and were detaining him.

Chief of Police O'Neil telephoned the Indianapolis police Monday that a jewelry store had been robbed here and a description of the jewelry was given, as well as a description of the robber whom Nightwatchman Denny stated was a light complexioned colored man.

Mr. Poe and Sheriff Hunt went to Indianapolis this morning, and the articles were identified, and the prisoner turned over to Sheriff Hunt.

The jewelry cases had had the firm name torn out, so that the pawn broker would not be suspicious, but the eight rings contained in the case, still had Mr. Poe's price marks, and had not been molested.

He will be arraigned early Wednesday morning in the circuit court on a charge of grand larceny.

GIRL NOW WELL AND STRONG

Daughter Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as Mother Advised

Wauseon, Ohio.—"My daughter always had backache and leg-ache at certain periods and could not be on her feet at those times. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing girls so much good so she began to take it. That is two years ago and she is a different girl since then able to do any work she wants to do—although she is still careful not to do heavy work—and so well and strong. We recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers with ailing daughters, and I give you permission to publish this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. A. M. BURKHOLDER, Route No. 2, Box 1, Wauseon, Ohio.

Something out of balance will affect the finest clock, causing it to gain or lose. The proper adjustment made, all is well. So it is with women. Some trouble may upset you completely.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct the cause of the trouble and disagreeable symptoms will disappear as they did in the case of Mrs. Burkholder's daughter.

Breeders Will Assemble on Kirkham

The Rush County Poland China Breeders' association announces their third annual breeders' tour which is to be held Thursday, June 22 beginning at the farm of G. H. Kirkham, near Center, at 9 a. m. From there the crowd will go to the farm of Floyd Williams, then will visit in the following order the herds of Jesse Gray, Link Jinks and Walter Norris.

There will be something of interest to hog men to be seen and heard at each stop, and the committee is locating good speakers for the occasion. At the first farm the topic for discussion will be the care and management of the breeding herd, and at the second farm the feeding of the brood sow and litter will be discussed.

Feeding will be the all-important thing at the Gray farm also, but this time the hogs will be left entirely out of the subject. The feeding of the human being will be the subject here, for the plan calls for getting to this farm about 11:30 a. m. and while the men are looking at Jess' fine bunch of Big Types, the women folks will set out one of their basket dinners that has made a name for the local breeders' or-

The Summer Care Of Infants.

Many children are quite frail at birth, thus the slightest changes in environment or slightest change in dietary will unbalance the little weak bodies and cause their death.

Of all the babies in the United States, twelve to twenty out of every one hundred die in the first year of life. Most children, if born with healthy bodies then properly cared for, will pass this time of danger safely.

No matter how poor the parents, if they will only use proper precautions in care and feeding, they can bring the babies through the danger period. The ignorance of the persons, to whom is entrusted the care of the children, is the great cause of the high death rate.

Improper Food

Improper food is the chief cause of sickness and death in infants. Of the deaths of infants under one year of age, twenty-five percent are due to intestinal diseases. Food is more apt to be spoiled in the warm months. Furthermore the child's body may be disarranged by heat and be less able to resist the attacks of disease germs or the poisons contained in spoiled foodstuffs.

Intestinal Disorders

Bowel troubles frequently occurring in children during the heated months, merely shows that nature is trying to free the child's body of harmful materials, but such complaints may be the visible signs of the onset of serious illness. Since bowel trouble is most commonly caused by improper food. The increased work is more than repaid by

HEAVY TOLLS LAST YEAR

Dr. Kigin States That Time of Year is Approaching When Disease
Usually Appears

Indiana hog raisers were visited by one of the most virulent outbreaks of hog cholera last year that had ever been experienced in this state. The loss was heavy and was felt more keenly owing to the general agricultural depression. But what might have the loss been had there not been a good percent of the herds vaccinated at the time the break came? The demand became so great upon the veterinarians' time that they had to neglect all other practice to vaccinate hogs. This demand continued until many of the serum producers were drained of the last bottle of serum in their plants. Had Chinch bugs that did considerable damage in some parts of the state and were more or less plentiful in parts of Rush county last year, are likely to be more abundant this season on account of the mild winter.

The county agent reports that they are hatching out and can be found in many grain fields at this time. Farmers will do well to examine their wheat, oats and other small grain fields to ascertain if the bugs are present in quantities large enough to do serious damage to corn after the grain is cut.

If present in grain fields, prepara-

ARRANGING A PURSE FOR PIG CLUB SHOW

Big Type Breeders' Association of
This County Will Attempt to Give a $50 Cash Prize

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS' WORK

The Rush County Big Type Breeders' Association is arranging a purse for the Pig Club Show which will be held at Rushville on August 26, according to G. H. Kirkham, Secretary of that Association.

He reports that he has signed a contract with the promotion organization of the Poland China breed, in which they agree to guarantee one-half of a $50 purse for the boys and girls who will exhibit pigs of that breed at the show.

The purse will be divided into ten prizes, ranging from $10 for first prize to $2 for tenth money, provided each exhibitor finishes the Pig Club project according to the club rules and registers his pig before the show.

There will be $200 awarded to the boys and girls who exhibit Poland China pigs at the Indiana State Fair, according to I. Newt Brown, Secretary. The dates for the State Fair are set for September 4 to 9, which makes it just right for the winners of the Rush County Pig Club Contest to exhibit there.

PEN UP BROODY HENS

Penning up of broody hens, as soon as they want to set, will bring many hens back into laying after a few days of broodiness. The longer they are let go, the longer it will take to get them back into laying, according to Purdue University poultrymen.

POULTRY EXPERT HAS BEEN ENGAGED

Rush County Farmers' Association
Secures Services of George H.
Brown For Two Weeks

WILL BEGIN HERE ON JULY 31

Farmers Who Desire to Have Flocks
Culled Should Make Early
Application For His Services

The Rush County Farmers' association has engaged George H. Powers, a poultry specialist, for a period of two weeks, beginning July 31, to cull poultry for members of the organization who do not care to do the work themselves.

The practical worth of culling has been proven in this county through the demonstration work which has been done during the past three years. Rush county poultry raisers generally are believers in culling and many have culled their own flocks after attending a demonstration and had excellent results. But many farmers would rather pay some one else for doing this work than do it themselves, feeling that someone who has had more experience will do the work more satisfactorily.

So in order to take care of those who want to hire their flocks culled, the association has made arrangements for Mr. Powers to come for the two weeks. In that time he will be able to handle about 60 flocks, or five to a township. The association regrets that they could not get the expert for a longer period of time, as it is anticipated that the time will be too short to take care of the demand for the work.

NEW BRANCH IS BUSILY ENGAGED

Producers' Commission Association,
Established by Indiana Farmers
Has Many Consignments

MARKETS STOCK SHIPMENTS

New Concern Distributes Stock
Shipments to Many Buyers and
Growth Has Been Profitable

The Producers' Commission Association that brand-new cooperative commission establishment which the Indiana Federation of Farmer's Associations created at the Indianapolis stock yards has done business, steadily and with an increasing grasp and effectiveness, from the day it opened. Several cars of stock were actually consigned to it before it was officially in existence, because its opening date had to be postponed for a week and some of the Hoosier Farmers did not learn of the postponement. These consignments were distributed among other reliable firms for sale. Since the opening day the new concern has done business every day of the week and its results to date are of a sort to fill its founders with confidence.

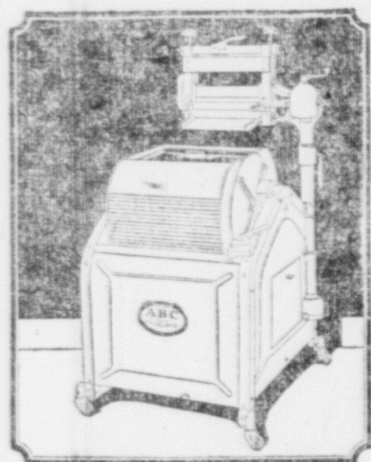

The beginning of the week of May 24 was thoroughly good—so good that at the middle of the week it looked as if the Producers' Commission Association would not only outdistance its own record for the week previous, which was its first week in operation, but that it would forge ahead to second place, instead of fourth place, in the matter of receipts for the whole week. Its first week found the new firm fourth from the top among the numerous commission concerns in business at the yards.

How well the patrons of the new Association are pleased with its performance, is better shown by their own testimony than by any comment. A Shelby county farmer, who is a member of the Shelby county shipping association and a patron of the Producers' Commission Association as a matter of course, has written in to the headquarters of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations, as follows:

"An interesting thing came to my attention yesterday. Two members of our Association—meaning the Shelby County local shipping association, whose members patronize the new firm as a matter of course—live on adjoining farms, and they

Summer Sports

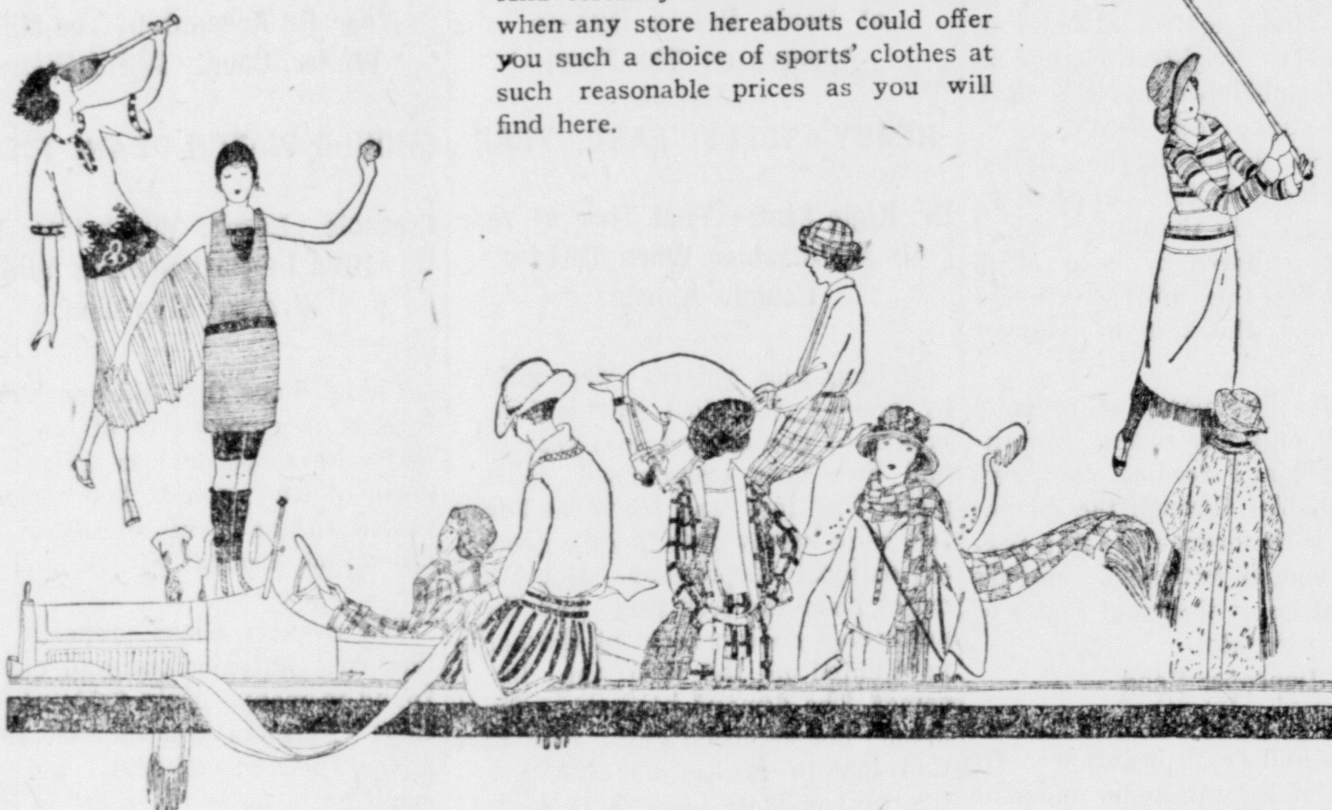

The Season of New Life is Here

One may say a new world is here, for never was there a season when sports' clothes were ever in such popular demand.

On the other hand, there has never been a season when sports clothes were so pretty and practical as they are this season.

Pongee aspiring to a wider field of fashionable endeavor than merely to compose hankies and blouses is now the smart medium for the very newest lingerie. You will like pongee chemises, night dresses and the like, so cool for Summer, you know.

The uneven skirtline persists, but on the very ragged edge of going straight again one imagines, for hems themselves are no longer jagged, unevenness being achieved rather by subtleties, panels, draperies and side cascades.

And certainly there was never a time when any store hereabouts could offer you such a choice of sports' clothes at such reasonable prices as you will find here.

Another time saver in the fine art of costuming is a garter-bloomer—that is, a silk bloomer with a garter attached at the knee. A rather clever notion, what?

To set you right on a trio of fabrics: esponge, creponge, and spongeen, whose names leave all at sixes and sevens when an attempt to distinguish them is made. Esponge is the 1922 way of saying ratine; creponge is a variety of silk jersey; spongeen is a wooly surface basket weave fabric.

MANY BUILDING PLANS AVAILABLE AT PURDUE

Hundreds of Farmers Over the State Have Taken Advantage of This Service During Past 2 Years

WIDE DEMAND FOR PLANS

A large number of plans for houses, barns, hog houses, poultry houses, sheep, implement, cattle, and other sheds, granaries and cribs, garages, etc., have been obtained by the farm mechanics' department of Purdue University and may be obtained at cost of making the blue prints. Hundreds of farmers over the state have taken advantage of this service during the past two years. Most of the buildings and the equipment were designed by Purdue men had hogs on the Indianapolis market this week—meaning the week of the 24th. One of them shipped to your firm—the new cooperative firm—and the other said he forgot, though he had the same notification as the first. The man who "forgot" and sent his hogs to another commission firm had slightly the best hogs, yet his bill showed that they were sold for ten cents less on the hundred than your people sold the other man's hogs for."

Farmers, surely, are coming to realize that they are business men, not drones or drudges, and that they can attend to their own business better than anyone else. The Omaha cooperative company, last year, paid back $92,000 in refund to its shippers.

The day of cooperation is here, and those who know how, and why and in what spirit the Indianapolis company was founded are perfectly sure of its success and are in practical use on many farms over the state.

Three house plans are available, one of a five room cottage, another of a two story farm house and one of a tenant house. Five different barn plans have been prepared and there are 18 different hog house and equipment plans. These include central and individual houses and different types to suit all kinds of farming, also self-feeder plans, loading chutes, feeding floors, shipping crates, hurdles, etc.

The poultry house and equipment is just as complete, and represents the three or four different types of houses best adapted to Indiana. Plans also are available for equipment of all kinds. The cattle, sheep and implement sheds are on a similar basis, and are designed so that they may be built on the unit basis, enlarged as needed. There is a wide demand for these, especially of the poultry and hog houses.

PEPPERGRASS IS A NEW WEED PEST

Field Variety is Being Introduced in State With Low Grade Clover And Alfalfa Seeds

CULTIVATION IS URGED

A new weed pest for Rush county has been identified as Field Peppergrass, which threatens to be a serious pest if it is allowed to become established.

Field peppergrass is being introduced into the state, rather extensively, with low grade clover and alfalfa seeds. Although an annual it is one of the worst of the meadow weeds. It starts its growth from the seed in the fall, lives in the leaf stage through the winter, and then produces flowers and seed in great abundance early in the spring. It is especially undesirable in alfalfa fields, since it may mature some seed before the first cutting of the crop and thus provide for its reappearance the following season. As a rule, it spreads very rapidly and readily crowds out plants of the crop.

The most effective way of dealing with this weed is to put the infested field under cultivation. Stirring the soil frequently, in connection with corn, potato or some other hoed crop, will induce the weed seeds to germinate and destroy the young plants. In one or two seasons the weed can be entirely eradicated by this method.

Where the cultivation method would not always be practicable or advisable, as in clover and alfalfa fields in pastures, hand pulling will prove most effective. This is to be preferred to merely cutting the plants off, as that may not prevent formation of new shoots. The weed should be pulled early in the spring, before it has had time to mature any seed. If the work is done when the ground is moist the plants pull up quite readily.

Owing to the very noxious nature of field peppergrass it will be worth while to every farmer to proceed to destroy this weed as soon as it appears on his place. "Nip the evil in the bud" is a good axiom to follow in this case.

ITINERARY MADE FOR ANNUAL TOUR

ganization. The two previous tours have demonstrated that these ladies have mastered the art of feeding men while their men folks have become expert in the hog-feeding game.

At the farms to be visited in the afternoon feeding for market will be the subject for discussion, and on each of these farms the visitors will see litters which have been entered in the state Ton Litter Contest. J. R. Wiley, who is in charge of the ton litter work in the state will be on hands to discuss this work and the breeders who are feeding the litters will describe their feeding methods by which they are going to make a litter of pigs weigh a ton at six months of age.

It is emphatically pointed out that this tour is not for breeders of Poland Chinas alone. Every farmer in Rush county who is interested in hogs, no matter what his favorite breed, is welcome and cordially invited to take part. While the tour is being conducted under the auspices of the Poland China breeders, the main object is not to boost China hogs as it is to encourage the interest in pure-breds generally.

POULTRY EXPERT HAS BEEN ENGAGED

The policy that will be followed will be "first come, first served" and applications will be taken care of in the order in which they are received. An attempt will be made, however, to give each township their quota of five flocks. Folks interested in having their flocks culled are urged to get their applications in early in order to insure an engagement.

In order to take care of the expenses of this work a minimum fee of $2 per flock, plus one-half cent per hen for all over 100 hens, will be charged. If this fee is more than enough to take care of the actual expenses, any balance will be refunded.

The full schedule of this work will be advertised in time to give the farmers a chance to see the culling agent work, so that they can cull their own flocks. The county agent will also give township demonstrations in the township where they are wanted.

VENTILATING

A New Pleasure in Your Life

Just imagine how much more pleasure and comfort you would have if you could use your porch from early Spring until late in the Fall; if you could add another room to your home; an out-of-door living room where you could live both night and day; a room shady and comfortable where you could enjoy every breeze that blows. You can easily do this with VUDOR Ventilating Porch Shades. You need never feel shut in, for you can readily see out and get all the light and air you want.

THE VUDOR VENTILATING SHADE

The VUDOR Ventilating Shade is entirely different from any other shade on the market. It has a ventilator woven in the top of the shade itself. This ventilator allows the heated air to pass out freely from underneath the ceiling of the porch while the remainder of the shade, being closely woven, protects one from the rays of the sun.

SELF HANGING

With our patented Self-Hanging fixtures, you simply hang the shade in position upon the staples previously driven through the VUDOR printed paper pattern which comes rolled in each shade. No measuring, no boring, no screws, no screwdriver. Unhook the shades in the Fall; hook them up again in the Spring.

WARNING AGAINST CHOLERA EPIDEMIC

the disease continued to spread until the serum supply had been exhausted it is impossible to estimate the probable number of hogs that would have been lost.

"The time of year is approaching when cholera usually commences to make its appearance. It is already reported in some sections. Some years the outbreaks are worse than others. This is due to the virulence of the infection. Owing to the widespread outbreak of the disease last year, it is not advisable for a breeder to take chances by neglecting to vaccinate this year in sections of the state where the disease was prevalent last year," said Dr. L. C. Kigin, of the veterinary extension of Purdue University. "Putting off vaccinating until the herd shows signs of being infected is a poor system to follow. It should always be remembered that serum is a preventive agent and not a cure.

The weight and age of a pig at the time of vaccination is immaterial when the work is intelligently done. In so far as the cost is concerned, there is no advantage in vaccinating small pigs. It requires the same dose of serum and virus to immunize a week old pig as it does a shote weighing 30 pounds; however, the majority of breeders and veterinarians prefer a herd of shotes to average 30 to 40 pounds at the time of immunizing, as the muscle is firmer and the escape of serum at point of injection is less. "Whenever young pigs are in danger of becoming infected it would be unwise to postpone vaccinating regardless of age or size," said the Purdue veterinarian.

The care of a herd after treatment is important. No corn should be fed for the first two or three days, and only sparingly fed for a week. Turn the herd on blue grass or clover pasture whenever possible. Permanent hog lots should not be used by a herd just immunized. The danger of complications is increased to a very large percent whenever a muddy or dusty lot is used, as infection is more frequently found around such places. Hog lots should be plowed up every spring and sowed down in some leguminous crop. This will give the sunlight and air a chance to purify the ground. It should always be kept in mind that sunlight and air are the most powerful and dependable disinfectants.

HEALTH NOTES.

the child's gain in weight, health and strength.

Mother's milk is the best food for babies. The greater number of the ones that die every summer have not been fed in this way. No food, no matter how skillfully prepared, can entirely take the place of mother's milk. It is well worth while for the mother to make energetic efforts to continue giving her baby the food which nature intended it to receive. In order to do this she must take plenty of sleep and eat good food and keep herself in good health. Drugs should not be taken without the doctor's advice, for undoubtedly a large number of babies are buried every year on account of their mothers using drugs.

In case it becomes necessary to feed a child something besides mother's milk, the change should be made gradually if necessary. This step should be taken only with advice of a competent physician. Great skill is required to obtain a proper formula, then it must be changed from time to time as the child grows older.

Clean Milk

The milk used in babies' formulas must come only from clean cows in order to be pure. The containers into which the milk is drawn must be absolutely clean. One reason that each summer sees the increase in the infant death rate is because much of the milk is improperly handled and is absolutely unfit for human use.

Many times malnourished, thin, anemic babies, were found to be taking milk from tuberculous cows. The dairymen had been careless and neglected to have adequate tuberculin tests made of their herds. The patrons were equally as careless for not demanding milk from Tuberculin tested herd and an inspected dairy.

CHINCH BUGS ARE DUE TO REAPPEAR

tions should be made to fight them before the grain is cut, because as soon as the grain is cut off they start to migrate to the nearest corn field, where in large numbers they do serious damage. If control measures are not started until after the bugs migrate and get into the corn, the problem of control is a serious one.

Migration should be prevented by the use of a creosote barrier. The county agent will be glad to advise regarding the method of control if notified in time to make control possible. In sections where the bugs are especially bad and generally distributed, the control calls for absolute cooperation of all the farmers in the neighborhood if the pest is to be controlled effectively. Farmers who find chinch bugs in their grain fields should consult the county agent

Massey-Harris No. 3 Combined Side Rake and Tedder

This implement offers you all of the advantages of the most modern side delivery rake and then goes one further. It gives you in addition an excellent hay tedder into which it is quickly converted by simply moving a lever which causes the motion of the raking cylinder to be reversed at increased speed. Combining two machines in one, it saves you the cost of one, the time changing from one to the other when separate machines are used and yet requires no more space for storing than a side rake of the ordinary type.

Foundation is Substantial

A very strong main frame of high carbon angle steel, well braced and trussed carries the raking cylinder in detachable, easy running bearings and holds all parts in perfect alignment, giving the machine light draft and long life.

Handles Crop Without Loss

The teeth draw straight out of the hay without any tendency to carry it over the cylinder and form the windrows with such a steady, positive motion there is no beating or threshing of the heads or leaves.

NEGRO ADMITS ROBBING POE STORE HERE

William Moore Arrested in Indianapolis Last Friday 5 Hours After Theft Here, on Suspicion

TRIED TO PAWN THE JEWELRY

Indianapolis Police Held Him Because of Word That Hoopston, Ill., Store Had Been Robbed

THE JEWELRY IS IDENTIFIED

While Being Brought Here Today by Sheriff and Jesse Poe, Negro Confesses to Robbery

A colored man, giving his name as William Moore, today confessed to the breaking of the window at the William B. Poe and Son jewelry store in this city early Friday morning, after having been arrested five hours after the robbery, in Indianapolis, and detained there until a clue to a robbery in which he was suspected of being implicated could be located. He was arrested on suspicion because of the jewelry he had.

The colored man was returned here this afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock from Indianapolis by Sheriff S. L. Hunt, after Jesse Poe had identified some of the stolen articles that were taken from the show window, when the glass was broken.

It was learned Monday morning by Mr. Poe that the robber also had escaped with a case of eight rings, as well as the three wrist watches, which placed his total loss at about $200. All of the jewelry except one watch, was recovered, and the negro denied that he had gotten this watch.

The colored man did not admit his guilt until he was enroute to this city on the car, having told the Indianapolis police that he had obtained the jewelry in Chicago.

The Indianapolis police had been notified earlier in the week to watch for a colored man answering his description, who had robbed a jewelry store in Hoopston, Ill., and when he appeared at a pawn brokers office at 9 o'clock Friday morning, just five hours after he had broken the glass here, the police arrested him.

W. W. SNIFF DRAWS LESSONS FROM WAR

Former Rushville Pastor, Now of Union City, Speaks to Rotary Club—Other Guests Present

INVITATION TO CONNERSVILLE

The Rev. W. W. Sniff of Union City, Ind., formerly pastor of the Main Street Christian church, addressed the Rotary club at the regular noon meeting today, drawing some lessons from the war and commenting upon the good that can be accomplished by the noon lunch clubs in drawing men closer together and bringing them to realize that the brotherhood of man is the foundation for all advancement.

The Rev. Mr. Sniff was reminiscent, recalling that it was twenty years when he began his pastorate and here, and how those he knew as boys had grown to manhood. The Rev. Mr. Sniff is a member of the Kiwanis club.

The club accepted an invitation to be the guests of the Connorsville Rotary club some night during the week of July 3 when a speaker of national reputation will deliver an address. A letter from W. O. Fendner, the local club's delegate to the international convention at Los Angeles, Calif., this week, written enroute, was read at the meeting.

Other guests beside the Rev. Mr. Sniff were his son, Leslie Sniff, Ralph Himelick of Connorsville, judge-elect of the Fayette circuit court, William Sparks and George C. Wyatt of this city.

Police Gets Invitation To Convention by Radio

Chief of Police Will O'Neil received an invitation Monday night by wireless to attend a convention of police chiefs to be held in San Francisco on June 19, when Edward Sentman of the radio department at Poe's jewelry store, at his station in North Harrison street, picked up the radiogram sent out from Kansas City to all police heads in the country. He copied the message, which was in telegraphic code, and delivered it to the Rushville chief today.

IN COURT TODAY ON A CONTEMPT CHARGE

Anthony Locke, Connorsville Business Man, Accused of Failing to Comply With Decree

JUDGE KETCHUM DISQUALIFIED

Anthony Locke, a business man of Connorsville, who was defendant in a divorce suit heard here last winter in which Emmogene Locke, his wife, was granted a divorce, support money and over $3,000 alimony, was in court today on a charge of contempt, it being alleged that he has failed to comply with the court orders on the attorney fees and other expenses.

Monday afternoon Special Judge Gates Ketchum, who heard the case and granted the divorce, sustained the defendant's motion disqualifying him to have jurisdiction in matters pertaining to the divorce, and Judge Sparks assumed jurisdiction.

Evidence concerning the financial condition of the divorced husband occupied most of the court today on the question of contempt. Following the granting of the divorce, the defendant had obtained permission to appeal to the Supreme court, but did not do so, and he also was refused a motion for a new trial, but these matters were before Judge Ketchum, who was disqualified from serving.

AUTHORIZED TO ERECT SIGN POSTS ON ROADS

Steffenguid Corporation Granted Permission by Commissioners—Asks Bonds be Reissued

CONTRACTOR BEFORE BOARD

The Steffenguid Corporation was granted authority by the county commissioners at their regular June meeting this week to erect sign posts at all cross roads in the county, which will direct travelers in all directions. The signs will bear advertisements and will be erected free of charge. The concern will sell guide books which will direct travelers, by means of the signs, to any point in the county.

George W. Miller, who was given the contract for the John Power et al. paved highway north of Rushville a few years ago, petitioned the commissioners to reissue the bonds for the roads. The bonds were destroyed last year because the contractor failed to construct the road on account of the high price of material and labor during and immediately following the war. No action was taken by the board on the petition.

Frank Catt, county surveyor, was authorized to draw up plans and specifications for the A. J. Morrison and John Brown bridges in Walker township.

Edward G. Newby and Paul L. Daubenspeck of New Salem were appointed constables of the Rush County Horse Thief Detective Association.

MAJOR FOUND GUILTY

Camp Dix, N. J. June 6.—For going over the heads of his superior officers and writing a letter to President Harding charging the service with being "Prussianized" Major Malcolm Wheeler Nicholson was found guilty of a technical violation of army regulations by a general court martial here last night. He was fined fifty dollars, which puts him in the rear of fifty majors whom he ranked for promotion.

INTEREST IN THE RELICS INCREASES

BIG DISPLAY IN NEW BUILDING

Implements and Other Heavy Articles May be Brought in Saturday—Collection of Old Coins

The interest that is being manifested in relics in Rush county indicates that the display at the Rush county Centennial, to be held Wednesday and Thursday of next week, will be one of the things that will hold the most interest for Centennial visitors.

Displays of old pictures that are appearing in store windows in Rushville have attracted more than passing attention. Rushville business men are planning many attractive exhibits in connection with their own lines of business which will be second only to the major display of relics to be made in the Mullins and Taylor building in West First street under the auspices of the Centennial relics committee.

Mrs. Guy Abercrombie, chairman of this committee, announced today that persons having old implements or other heavy articles to be displayed, may leave them at the Mullins and Taylor building Saturday, if it will not be convenient to bring them to Rushville the first of next week. The committee did not expect to begin arranging the exhibit before early next week, but some farmers who expect to offer some old-fashioned implements for the exhibit ask permission to bring them to Rushville Saturday. Mrs. Abercrombie said that they would be safe in the building over Sunday as it would be locked.

Two large group pictures of pioneers of the county, which were found in the store room of the court house and have been placed in the store windows of Frank Wilson & Co., and the Oren pharmacy, have attracted more than ordinary attention because they contain the photographs of the ancestors of many Rush county people.

Another exhibit that has caught the interest of many is a collection of old coins belonging to Howard Clawson of Manilla, who was principal of the Havens school building.

PROGRESSIVE IS VICTOR IN IOWA

Returns From Close To Two-Thirds Of Precincts Give Brookhart Safe Lead For Senator

POLLS 40 PER CENT OF VOTE

Third Successive Defeat For "Old Guard" Of Republican Party In State Primaries Recently

Des Moines, Iowa, June 6.—Iowa has apparently handed the "old guard" of the Republican party its third successive defeat in the state senatorial primaries.

Smith W. Brookhart, progressive, on the basis of present returns, has been named Republican candidate for United States senator from the state, polling more than the required 35 per cent of the total vote in a field of six candidates.

The other two primaries where the "old guard" went down in surprising defeat, where in Indiana where Albert Beveridge was chosen candidate and in Pennsylvania where Gifford Pinchot was successful in triumphing over the old Penrose machine.

Returns from close to two-thirds of the precincts in Monday's primary election compiled at this hour gave for republican nomination for United States senator; Brookhart 72,455 (39.8 per cent of the total); Pickett 31,498; Thorne 29,151; Francis 23,499; Sweet, 18,090; Stanley 7, 349.

The lead of the progressive over five other candidates steadily increased as reports piled up from scattered precincts throughout the state.

In 1,206 precincts reported out of 2,348 in the state, Brookhart polled 60,346 votes or 38.7 per cent of the total; Pickett had 28,639; Thorne 24,080; Francis 20,337; Sweet 16,222.

Most of the vote thus far tabulated is from cities where Brookhart was expected to show his greatest weakness. Rural districts yet to be heard from are regarded as Brookhart strongholds.

Charles Pickett, favorite of the conservatives, was running a poor second. Brookhart was out-polling him two to one in almost every precinct.

The community orchestra will hold a rehearsal at the court house assembly room Thursday night in preparation for concerts which will be given by the orchestra during the Centennial celebration, it was announced today by Miss Sarah I. McConnell, director.

The organization will appreciate it, the director stated, if all musicians of the county will join the organization for the Centennial appearance. It is urged that they attend the rehearsal Thursday evening and prepare for the event. The members of the community orchestra believe that the organization should be representative of the whole county on such an occasion as the one next week.

MAN CONVICTED HERE IS SEEKING CLEMENCY

WILL BE HEARD ON JUNE 14

Cecil B. Collins, ex-clerk of the Shelby circuit court, who was tried and convicted of embezzlement in the court here about two years ago, when the matter was sent here on a change of venue, has applied for clemency, as the last resort to keep him from serving the one to five year sentence imposed by the local jury. His hearing will come up before the pardon board on June 14.

Collins appealed his case from Shelbyville, and it was sent here, where the conviction was obtained. After that, he appealed the case to the supreme court, where they affirmed the decision of the local court, and only recently he applied for a rehearing by the supreme court, which was denied a few weeks ago.

During the two years since sentence was passed on him here, it is said that he and his family have been residing in Texas, and it is understood that he is located in that state now, but his bondsmen are liable until he begins to serve his sentence.

Taggart, a well known baker of Indianapolis, also will be on the program.

Other state officers and prominent bakers who are coming for the group meeting and will participate in the after-dinner speech-making, include C. P. Ehler of Indianapolis, secretary-manager of the state association; J. A. Dietzer of Frankfort, treasurer; Elmer L. Cline of Seymour and Mrs. E. O. Dunn of Seymour. Mr. Taggart is president of the National Bakers' association.

A. W. Wilkinson of this city, is in charge of the arrangements for the meeting here, and the place of the evening banquet will be announced later.

WAGES OF RAIL SHOPMEN ARE CUT

United States Labor Board Loops $60,000,000 a Year Off The Pay of Employees

$500,000 MEN ARE AFFECTED

Carriers Told Board More Men Would be Employed if Reductions Were Allowed

(By United Press)

Chicago, Ill., June 6.—A strike vote was ordered today among the 50,000 members of the federated railroad shop craft unions, following announcement of the United States railroad labor board of a $60,000,000 wage cut.

The shop workers will vote whether to walk out in protest to the reduction in pay. The result will be made known, June 30, the day before the new scale goes into effect.

This is the second railroad labor organization to send out strike ballots following a wage slash. The first were the maintenance of way workers sent out ballots following a $50,000,000 slash.

Chicago, June 6.—Wages of railroad shop employees were cut $60,000,000 a year today by the United States railroad labor board. Five hundred thousand men, under normal conditions, are affected.

The board's decision follows closely the one reducing maintenance of the way employees' wages $50,000,000 a year.

The largest divisions of shop and equipment maintenance employees—machinists, boilermakers, blacksmiths and electricians—are reduced seven cents an hour. Pay of freight carmen is cut nine cents an hour and car cleaners five cents.

In petitioning for a reduction in pay of shop workers, the carriers told the board that a cut would mean that more men would be employed to repair the equipment of the roads.

Carriers contended that because of high prevailing wages, rolling stock had deteriorated for lack of funds to hire men to do the work.

The board said in its opinion that the cut represented a decrease in the cost of living.

In dissenting opinion signed by A. O. Wharton, Albert Phillips and W. L. McNemin, representing labor, it was pointed out that the old scale of wages does not enable "shop craft families, with the most economical management, to procure enough food." The labor members were in favor of an increase.

"At the current prices an increase in pay would be necessary to enable these employees to secure a standard of living expressed in goods."

"The failure of the majority to consider the real merits of the case has created a wage structure which has no relation to existing standards."

The decision, which has been anticipated for some time, will mean a strike vote of railroad employees involved, Bert M. Jewell, president of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor, said.

Final plans for the vote are to be mapped out in a meeting to be held in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 6.—Leaders of railroad unions met here today to fight slashes in pay of railroad workers by the United States railroad labor board which totalled $110,000,000 in the last two weeks.

According to William Johnson, the president of the machinists union, the conference does not possess the power to call a strike but will lay plans for strike votes.

Johnson, the members of whose unions were cut from 77 cents to 70 cents an hour, charged that the railroad labor board which was appointed to safeguard the public interests was unjustified in making the cut.

The conference was called in anticipation of the $60,000,000 slash announced by the board today.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, arrived to attend the labor sessions.

Saving and Serving

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stands squarely on the principle that the man who saves and invests is a better citizen as well as a happier and more useful employee than the one who lives "from hand to mouth" and spends his income as fast as he earns it.

To promote the habit of saving, and to insure that feeling of security in the future, which frees a man's mind from worry, enabling him to give all his energy to creative activities, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) a year ago put into effect, for its employees, a stock investment plan.

Under this plan an employee may save as much as 20 percent of his yearly wage. To every dollar thus saved the Company adds 50c. This money is invested in stock of the Company as fast as sufficient money accumulates to buy one share; for instance, if a man or woman saves $560.00 a year the Company adds thereto one-half of that amount, or $280.00, which will buy 10 shares at the established price for 1922.

Whether or not he takes advantage of this plan is optional with the employee. The fact, however, that the majority of the employees who have been with the Company one year, or more, have availed themselves of the opportunity is convincing evidence that the plan meets a definite need.

Since the plan went into operation it has been apparent that the employees take a greater interest, not only in the work which engages their attention, but what is more important, in the service the Company renders the public.

This is not surprising, for a man with money invested has a stronger interest in a business, and a keener appreciation of his value to the community than a man who has never assumed this responsibility.

Therefore, this stock investment plan for employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an important factor in continually improving the service rendered the public by the Company.

It is but another evidence of the care and forethought exercised by the management in its endeavor to perfect an organization which shall render to the public a maximum of sustained service.

"All of our best doctors had given me up. I was unable to leave my bed for 16 weeks and was yellow as a pumpkin, besides the terrible stomach pains I suffered. Our druggist advised my husband to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and it has saved my life. I am a new woman now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. A MORNING PRAYER—

Create in me a clean heart, O

Freight Rate Reductions

Since the interstate commerce commission reduced freight rates ten percent, there has been much speculation in many quarters as to what effect it would have on the cost of living. The prevailing opinion appears to be that the reduction will serve to stimulate business rather than cut prices any appreciable amount.

A general review of the situation prepared by the National Retail Dry Goods association holds to this view—that the lower freight rates should help prove national conditions of business, but that the average person will not feel any tangible results for the present.

The direct advantages will be felt in those lines of industry, such as construction, where materials utilized are conspicuous for bulk and weight. Here the reduction in costs, amounting in volume sufficiently to influence consumption, bids fair to stimulate production, increase employment and appreciably expand the buying capacity of the public. Through such indirect channels the effect should finally be felt in the dry goods trade.

The direct effect of the reduction on dry goods and other merchandise sold in department and similar retail stores, however, will be very slight. Against yearly sales in dry goods at retail amounting to $7,000,000,000 freight charges against so negligibly as to have no immediate effect.

Expressed in actual figures, the best estimates available show freight charges amounting to no more than 3 per cent of merchandise cost, as the average, on merchandise received by stores located in and near to the great manufacturing centers in the East, the percentage rising with the additional mileage westward. In Eastern manufacturing centers such as New York City, a considerable bulk of the merchandise carries no railroad freight charges whatever. Only one-third of the freight charges on incoming shipments is paid by the stores; the two-thirds remaining is paid by the consignor. With due allowance made for all goods not shipped by rail, freight charges paid directly by the stores amount to no more than one-third of one per cent of the cost of merchandise handled.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

AMUSEMENTS

Last Showing For Today.

"Peaceful Valley," the well known Sol Smith Russell success, which has a record of 5,207 stage performances, has at last been transferred to the screen, with Charles Ray, the popular, cinema star, playing the leading role in his favorite part of a "hick."

The production, which was adapted by Isabel Johnston from the stage play by Edward E. Kidder, will be the attraction at the Princess for the last showing today.

It is Mr. Ray's second release through Associated First National Pictures as an independent producer. Jerome Storm directed the production of "Peaceful Valley" and prominent in the cast supporting Charles Ray are Harry Myers, Lincoln Stedman, Walter Perkins, Wm. Courtwright, Vincent C. Hamilton, Jesse Herring, Ann May, Lydia Knott, Charlotte Pierce, Melba Lorraine and Ida Lewis.

"Peaceful Valley" was for years one of the most popular footlight attractions in America. Sol Smith Russell, playing the leading role, registered his greatest success in it. As a vehicle for Charles Ray, it is declared to be especially suitable, and in it the young star is said to have done some of the greatest work of his screen career.

Ann May, the charming little motion picture actress, who has been Charles Ray's leading woman in many other pictures, has the chief feminine role in "Peaceful Valley."

At The Mystic Today.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox, the great American poetess, who recently died, wrote in her own way something about it being easy to smile when life goes along like a song, but that it is mighty hard to smile when everything goes wrong.

Be that as it may, the photoplay, "Pickle Women," in which David Butler is to make his first appearance on the screen of the Mystic for the last time today, is a story of a smile that has a kick to it.

We have all heard about the he who laughs last—well, the young hero of this photoplay laughs first, last and all the time. Smiles when things are against him, and when with the aid of his good husky fists he cleans up a few doubts, he just continues to smile.

The young hero returns home bedecked with all kinds of medals to find that a slacker, in order to steal his girl away, has resorted to slander of the vilest kind.

But with the exercise of plenty of good old Yankee pep and a few Yankee wallops he vindicates his good name and marries the girl of his choice.

The women folks will like this picture, for it overflows with human interest and bubbles over with good healthy humor.

A Shelbyville newspaper Monday night stated that the officers in that city had received a request from Rushville officers to the effect that a hypnotist by the name of Bianco had seduced a Rushville boy from his home here, and was accompanying him as a "subject" for his entertainment, but local officers when interviewed today did not know anything about it. The newspaper account stated that the show troupe was in that city last week, and that the young man from Rushville was hypnotized in a show window for an entire day.

The paper stated that the father of the boy had ordered the hypnotist arrested for seduction, but the show is at Martinsville this week. No one here knew anything about the affair.

Babe Ruth Will Be Adjusted by a Chiropractor When Sick

Yankee Baseball Club to Keep Crack Athletes in Pink of Condition by Chiropractic

By WALTER SHERIDAN

The great Bambino, "Babe" Ruth, King of Swat, who is worth his weight not only in gold to the Yankee Baseball Club, champions of the American League for 1921, but in platinum as well, will be kept in the pink of physical condition this season by a Chiropractor. And together with the home run, fence-busting marvel to come under the physical care of a Chiropractor will be the entire Yankee roster of athletes, including the sensational Waite Hoyt, Carl Mays, "Long Bob" Meusel, Wally Pipp, Aaron Ward, Wally Schang and Elmer Miller. Even the bat boy won't be exempted in this drastic drive to keep the crack athletes in proper trim throughout the training and playing season so they can be kept free from ailments of all sorts.

Our hats are off to Miller Huggins, the stocky and aggressive little manager of the Yankees, who brought his team-mates to a pennant victory for the first time in the history of the club, and who is mainly responsible for introducing a Chiropractor into the organization to see that his men are in perfect physical condition.

That Manager Huggins has seen fit to employ a Chiropractor to look after the ailments of his million dollar aggregation of ball players, speaks very highly for this new healing science. And his strong faith in Chiropractic as a true health healing science is further emphasized by the fact that he has stuck to his decision in the face of the most severe and unfounded attacks on Chiropractic by the medical profession.

Dr. A. A. Woods, now living at the Sidney Hotel, New York City, is the Chiropractor who will adjust the sterling athletes whenever the occasion warrants. Dr. Woods is now in his senior year at the Carver Chiropractic Institute and has been a trainer for the Yankees for the past five years. He is himself a crack athlete, having been a professional trainer for more than twenty years.

When Edward Barrow, well known baseball figure, and at present business manager of the Yankees was asked concerning the employment of a Chiropractor to look after the health of the ball players, he stated that Miller Huggins was for it very strong and had come to this conclusion only after a thorough investigation of the science.

In an interview with Dr. Woods, he said:

"Yes, I am now almost through with my Chiropractic course and I am preparing to keep the Yankee ball team in the pink of condition. You know we have one of the most valuable aggregations of athletes in the country and they must be kept in proper trim throughout the playing season or we jeopardize our chances of winning the American League pennant again, for which, by the way, we are now headed.

"I believe Chiropractic is a wonderful health healing science and through its application expect to keep the members of the team in better condition this spring than ever before. In past seasons we have suffered all kinds of hard luck in regard to the incapacitation of the leading players. Their absence through sickness has virtually cost us a few pennants in seasons gone by. You can say for me that we are going to keep our players in prime condition and that we are out for another flag."

Leading Chiropractors when apprised of the acquisition of a Chiropractor on the Yankee ball team, were unanimous in their expression of approval over the keen insight into the science displayed by the Yankee management in their decision to have a Chiropractor adjust the athletes for their ills.

"It shows that officials of the club really know what Chiropractic is," said one practitioner.

"And I can say further that if ball players, who must necessarily be kept in fine physical condition, can be given over to a Chiropractor for adjustment, then it certainly follows that the general public should have little hesitancy in calling upon Chiropractors generally for relief from their ailments." — The Chiropractic News, New York.

LILLIAN RUSSELL IS DEAD

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 6.—Lillian Russell is dead.

The former stage beauty succumbed early today to a complication of diseases believed the result of a fall on board ship while returning from Europe where she studied immigration conditions for President Harding.

The end came at 2:20 a. m. after an illness of ten days. At her bedside was her fourth husband, Alexander P. Moore, Pittsburgh publisher, a daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Dorothy Russell Calvit, and a niece, Mildred A. Martin.

It also contains some of the old postage currency which few people of the present generation have ever seen. It was large and bulky paper money which was good only for postage. The two pieces in the display are five and ten-cent denominations.

Probably the most interesting pieces in the display are several of the old "Shin Plasters," fractional currency issued during the civil war. The denominations in the collection are three, five, ten, fifteen, twenty-five and fifty cents.

There are also a number of gold pieces issued at different periods, some as low as twenty-five cents, and pieces of practically all of the silver and copper pieces ever minted by the United States.

Mrs. Earl H. Payne has an old tally paper used in the election in Orange township, Fayette county, which was held the second day of October in 1860. It is prized very highly by her and will be a part of the relics exhibit at the Centennial.

Harvey Wright, a relative of Mrs. Payne's, was one of the judges at the election, which accounts for her having it in her possession.

One of the most interesting things about the tally paper is that it contains the names of some famous Indiana men who were then candidates for office. Thomas A. Hendricks led the Democratic ticket as a candidate for governor and Henry S. Lane was the republican candidate for lieutenant-governor, and Benjamin Harrison, later president of the United States, appeared on the republican ticket as a candidate for reporter of decisions in the supreme court.

him. He had just pawned the two wrist watches for $10 apiece.

When the Indianapolis police searched him, they found the rings, and several other pieces of jewelry which answered the description of the goods taken from the Illinois city. They were awaiting word from Illinois, and were detaining him.

Chief of Police O'Neil telephoned the Indianapolis police Monday that a jewelry store had been robbed here and a description of the jewelry was given, as well as a description of the robber whom Nightwatchman Denny stated was a light complexioned colored man.

Mr. Poe and Sheriff Hunt went to Indianapolis this morning, and the articles were identified, and the prisoner turned over to Sheriff Hunt.

The jewelry cases had had the firm name torn out, so that the pawn broker would not be suspicious, but the eight rings contained in the case, still had Mr. Poe's price marks, and had not been molested.

He will be arraigned early Wednesday morning in the circuit court on a charge of grand larceny.

Wauseon, Ohio.—"My daughter always had backache and leg-ache at certain periods and could not be on her feet at those times. We read about Lydia E. Third Annual Breeders' Tour Will be SCHEDULED TO START AT 9 A. M.

Breeders Will Assemble on Kirkham
Farm and Visit Three Other
Herds During the Day

The Rush County Poland China Breeders' association announces their third annual breeders' tour which is to be held Thursday, June 22 beginning at the farm of G. H. Kirkham, near Center, at 9 a. m. From there the crowd will go to the farm of Floyd Williams, then will visit in the following order the herds of Jesse Gray, Link Jinks and Walter Norris.

There will be something of interest to hog men to be seen and heard at each stop, and the committee is locating good speakers for the occasion. At the first farm the topic for discussion will be the care and management of the breeding herd, and at the second farm the feeding of the brood sow and litter will be discussed.

Feeding will be the all-important thing at the Gray farm also, but this time the hogs will be left entirely out of the subject. The feeding of the human being will be the subject here, for the plan calls for getting to this farm about 11:30 a. m. and while the men are looking at Jess' fine bunch of Big Types, the women folks will set out one of their basket dinners that has made a name for the local breeders' or-

The Summer Care Of Infants.
Many children are quite frail at birth, thus the slightest changes in environment or slightest change in dietary will unbalance the little weak bodies and cause their death.

Of all the babies in the United States, twelve to twenty out of every one hundred die in the first year of life. Most children, if born with healthy bodies then properly cared for, will pass this time of danger safely.

No matter how poor the parents, if they will only use proper precautions in care and feeding, they can bring the babies through the danger period. The ignorance of the persons, to whom is entrusted the care of the children, is the great cause of the high death rate.

Improper Food

Improper food is the chief cause of sickness and death in infants. Of the deaths of infants under one year of age, twenty-five percent are due to intestinal diseases. Food is more apt to be spoiled in the warm months. Furthermore the child's body may be discouraged by heat and be less able to resist the attacks of disease germs or the poisons contained in spoiled foodstuffs.

Intestinal Disorders

Bowel troubles frequently occurring in children during the heated months, merely shows that nature is trying to free the child's body of harmful materials, but such complaints may be the visible signs of the onset of serious illness. Since bowel trouble is most commonly caused by improper food. The increased work is more than repaid by

Indiana hog raisers were visited by one of the most virulent outbreaks of hog cholera last year that had ever been experienced in this state. The loss was heavy and was felt more keenly owing to the general agricultural depression. But what might have the loss been had there not been a good percent of the herds vaccinated at the time the break came? The demand became so great upon the veterinarians' time that they had to neglect all other practice to vaccinate hogs. This demand continued until many of the serum producers were drained of the last bottle of serum in their plants. Had

The county agent reports that they are hatching out and can be found in many grain fields at this time. Farmers will do well to examine their wheat, oats and other small grain fields to ascertain if the bugs are present in quantities large enough to do serious damage to corn after the grain is cut.

ARRANGING A PURSE FOR PIG CLUB SHOW

Big Type Breeders' Association of
This County Will Attempt to Give a $50 Cash Prize

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS' WORK

The Rush County Big Type Breeders' Association is arranging a purse for the Pig Club Show which will be held at Rushville on August 26, according to G. H. Kirkham, Secretary of that Association.

He reports that he has signed a contract with the promotion organization of the Poland China breed, in which they agree to guarantee one-half of a $50 purse for the boys and girls who will exhibit pigs of that breed at the show.

The purse will be divided into ten prizes, ranging from $10 for first prize to $2 for tenth money, provided each exhibitor finishes the Pig Club project according to the club rules and registers his pig before the show.

There will be $200 awarded to the boys and girls who exhibit Poland China pigs at the Indiana State Fair, according to J. Newt Brown, Secretary. The dates for the State Fair are set for September 4 to 9, which makes it just right for the winners of the Rush County Pig Club Contest to exhibit there.

PEN UP BROODY HENS

Penning up of broody hens, as soon as they want to set, will bring many hens back into laying after a few days of broodiness. The longer they are let go, the longer it will take to get them back into laying, according to Purdue University poultrymen.

Rush County Farmers' Association
Secures Services of George H.

WILL BEGIN HERE ON JULY 31

Farmers Who Desire to Have Flocks
Culled Should Make Early
Application For His Services

The Rush County Farmers' association has engaged George H. Powers, a poultry specialist, for a period of two weeks, beginning July 31, to cull poultry for members of the organization who do not care to do the work themselves.

The practical worth of culling has been proven in this county through the demonstration work which has been done during the past three years. Rush county poultry raisers generally are believers in culling and many have culled their own flocks after attending a demonstration and had excellent results. But many farmers would rather pay some one else for doing this work than do it themselves, feeling that someone who has had more experience will do the work more satisfactorily.

So in order to take care of those who want to hire their flocks culled, the association has made arrangements for Mr. Powers to come for the two weeks. In that time he will be able to handle about 60 flocks, or five to a township. The association regrets that they could not get the expert for a longer period of time, as it is anticipated that the time will be too short to take care of the demand for the work.

NEW BRANCH IS BUSILY ENGAGED

Producers' Commission Association,
Established by Indiana Farmers—
Has Many Consignments
MARKETS STOCK SHIPMENTS

New Concern Distributes Stock
Shipments to Many Buyers and
Growth Has Been Profitable

The Producers' Commission Association that brand-new cooperative commission establishment which the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations created at the Indianapolis stock yards has done business, steadily and with an increasing grasp and effectiveness, from the day it opened. Several cars of stock were actually consigned to it before it was officially in existence, because its opening date had to be postponed for a week and some of the Hoosier farmers did not learn of the postponement. These consignments were distributed among other reliable firms for sale. Since the opening day the new concern has done business every day of the week and its results to date are of a sort to fill its founders with confidence.

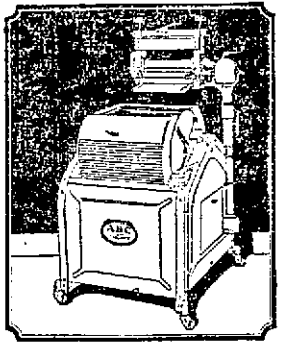

The beginning of the week of May 24 was thoroughly good—so good that at the middle of the week it looked as if the Producers' Commission Association would not only outdistance its own record for the week previous, which was its first week in operation, but that it would forge ahead to second place, instead of fourth place, in the matter of receipts for the whole week. Its first week found the new firm fourth from the top among the numerous commission concerns in business at the yards.

How well the patrons of the new Association are pleased with its performance, is better shown by their own testimony than by any comment. A Shelby county farmer, who is a member of the Shelby county shipping association and a patron of the Producers' Commission Association as a matter of course, has written in to the headquarters of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations, as follows:

"An interesting thing came to my attention yesterday. Two members of our Association—meaning the Shelby County local shipping association, whose members patronize the new firm as a matter of course—live on adjoining farms, and they

The Season of New Life is Here

One may say a new world is here, for never was there a season when sports' clothes were ever in such popular demand.

On the other hand, there has never been a season when sports clothes were so pretty and practical as they are this season.

Pongee aspiring to a wider field of fashionable endeavor than merely to compose hankies and blouses is now the smart medium for the very newest lingerie. You will like pongee chemises, night dresses and the like, so cool for Summer, you know.

The uneven skirtline persists, but on the very ragged edge of going straight again one imagines, for hems themselves are no longer jagged, unevenness being achieved rather by subtleties, panels, draperies and side cascades.

And certainly there was never a time when any store hereabouts could offer you such a choice of sports' clothes at such reasonable prices as you will find here.

Another time/saver in the fine art of costuming is a garter-bloomer—that is, a silk bloomer with a garter attached at the knee. A rather clever notion, what?

To set you right on a trio of fabrics: esponge, creponge, and spongeen, whose names leave all at sixes and sevens when an attempt to distinguish them is made. Esponge is the 1922 way of saying ratine; creponge is a variety of silk jersey; spongeen is a woolly surface basket weave fabric.

had hogs on the Indianapolis market this week—meaning the week of the 24th. One of them shipped to your firm—the new cooperative firm—and the other said he forgot, though he had the same notification as the first. The man who "forgot" and sent his hogs to another commission firm had slightly the best hogs, yet his bill showed that they were sold for ten cents less on the hundred than your people sold the other man's hogs for."

Farmers, surely, are coming to realize that they are business men, not drones or drudges, and that they can attend to their own business better than anyone else. The Omaha cooperative company, last year, paid back $92,000 in refund to its shippers.

The day of cooperation is here, and those who know how, and why and in what spirit the Indianapolis company was founded are perfectly sure of its success

A large number of plans for houses, barns, hog houses, poultry houses, sheep, implement, cattle, and other sheds, granaries and cribs, garages, etc., have been obtained by the farm mechanics' department of Purdue University and may be obtained at cost of making the blue prints. Hundreds of farmers over the state have taken advantage of this service during the past two years. Most of the buildings and the equipment were designed by Purdue men and are in practical use on many farms over the state.

Three house plans are available, one of a five room cottage, another of a two story farm house and one of a tenant house. Five different barn plans have been prepared and there are 18 different hog house and equipment plans. These include central and individual houses, and different types to suit all kinds of farming, also, self-feeder plans, loading chutes, feeding floors, shipping crates, hurdles, etc.

The poultry house and equipment is just as complete, and represents the three or four different types of houses best adapted to Indiana. Plans also are available for equipment of all kinds. The cattle, sheep and implement sheds are on a similar basis, and are designed so that they may be built on the unit basis, enlarged as needed. There is a wide demand for these, especially of the poultry and hog houses.

PEPPERGRASS IS A NEW WEED PEST

Field Variety is Being Introduced in State With Low Grade Clover
And Alfalfa Seeds

CULTIVATION IS URGED

A new weed pest for Rush county has been identified as Field Peppergrass, which threatens to be a serious pest if it is allowed to become established.

Field peppergrass is being introduced into the state, rather extensively, with low grade clover and alfalfa seeds. Although an annual it is one of the worst of the meadow weeds. It starts its growth from the seed in the fall, lives in the leaf stage through the winter, and then produces flowers and seed in great abundance early in the spring. It is especially undesirable in alfalfa fields, since it may mature some seed before the first cutting of the crop and thus provide for its reappearance the following season. As a rule, it spreads very rapidly and readily crowds out plants of the crop.

The most effective way of dealing with this weed is to put the infested field under cultivation. Stirring the soil frequently, in connection with corn, potato or some other hoed crop, will induce the weed seeds to germinate and destroy the young plants. In one or two seasons the weed can be entirely eradicated by this method.

Where the cultivation method would not always be practicable of advisable, as in clover and alfalfa fields in pastures, hand pulling will prove most effective. This is to be preferred to merely cutting the plants off, as that may not prevent formation of new shoots. The weed should be pulled early in the spring, before it has had time to mature any seed. If the work is done when the ground is moist the plants pull up quite readily.

Owing to the very noxious nature of field peppergrass it will be worth while to every farmer to proceed to destroy this weed as soon as it appears on his place. "Nip the evil in the bud" is a good axiom to follow in this case.

ITINERARY MADE FOR ANNUAL TOUR

ganization. The two previous tours have demonstrated that these ladies have mastered the art of feeding men while their men folks have become expert in the hog-feeding game.

At the farms to be visited in the afternoon feeding for market will be the subject for discussion, and on each of these farms the visitors will see litters which have been entered in the state Ton Litter Contest. J. R. Wiley, who is in charge of the ton litter work in the state will be on hands to discuss this work and the breeders who are feeding the litters will describe their feeding methods by which they are going to make a litter of pigs weigh a ton at six months of age.

It is emphatically pointed out that this tour is not for breeders of Poland Chinas alone. Every farmer in Rush county who is interested in hogs, no matter what his favorite breed, is welcome and cordially invited to take part. While the tour is being conducted under the auspices of the Poland China breeders, the main object is not to boost China hogs as it is to encourage the interest in pure-breds generally.

The policy that will be followed will be "first come, first served" and applications will be taken care of in the order in which they are received. An attempt will be made, however, to give each township their quota of five flocks. Folks interested in having their flocks culled are urged to get their applications in early in order to insure an engagement.

In order to take care of the expenses of this work a minimum fee of $2 per flock, plus one-half cent per hen for all over 100 hens, will be charged. If this fee is more than enough to take care of the actual expenses, any balance will be refunded.

The full schedule of this work will be advertised in time to give the farmers a chance to see the culling agent work, so that they can cull their own flocks. The county agent will also give township demonstrations in the township where they are wanted.

With our patented Self-Hanging fixtures, you simply hang the shade in position upon the staples previously driven through the VUDOR printed paper pattern which comes rolled in each shade. the disease continued to spread until the serum supply had been exhausted it is impossible to estimate the probable number of hogs that would have been lost.

"The time of year is approaching when cholera usually commences to make its appearance. It is already reported in some sections. Some years the outbreaks are worse than others. This is due to the virulence of the infection. Owing to the wide-spread-outbreak of the disease last year, it is not advisable for a breeder to take chances by neglecting to vaccinate this year in sections of the state where the disease was prevalent last year," said Dr. L. C. Kigin, of the veterinary extension of Purdue University. "Putting off vaccinating until the herd shows signs of being infected is a poor system to follow. It should always be remembered that serum is a preventive agent and not a cure.

The weight and age of a pig at the time of vaccination is immaterial when the work is intelligently done. In so far as the cost is concerned, there is no advantage in vaccinating small pigs. It requires the same dose of serum and virus to immunize a week old pig as it does a shote weighing 30 pounds; however, the majority of breeders and veterinarians prefer a herd of shotes to average 30 to 40 pounds at the time of immunizing, as the muscle is firmer and the escape of serum at point of injection is less. "Whenever young pigs are in danger of becoming infected it would be unwise to postpone vaccinating regardless of age or size," said the Purdue veterinarian.

The care of a herd after treatment is important. No corn should be fed for the first two or three days, and only sparingly fed for a week. Turn the herd on blue grass or clover pasture whenever possible. Permanent hog lots should not be used by a herd just immunized. The danger of complications is increased to a very large percent whenever a muddy or dusty lot is used, as infection is more frequently found around such places. Hog lots should be plowed up every spring and sowed down in some leguminous crop. This will give the sunlight and air a chance to purify the ground. It should always be kept in mind that sunlight and air are the most powerful and dependable disinfectants.

the child's gain in weight, health and strength.

Mother's milk is the best food for babies. The greater number of the ones that die every summer have not been fed in this way. No food, no matter how skillfully prepared, can entirely take the place of mother's milk. It is well worth while for the mother to make energetic efforts to continue giving her baby the food which nature intended it to receive. In order to do this she must take plenty of sleep and eat good food and keep herself in good health. Drugs should not be taken without the doctor's advice, for undoubtedly a large number of babies are buried every year on account of their mothers using drugs.

In case it becomes necessary to feed a child something besides mother's milk, the change should be made gradually if necessary. This step should be taken only with advice of a competent physician. Great skill is required to obtain a proper formula, then it must be changed from time to time as the child grows older.

Clean Milk

The milk used in babies' formulas must come only from clean cows in order to be pure. The containers into which the milk is drawn must be absolutely clean. One reason that each summer sees the increase in the infant death rate is because much of the milk is improperly handled and is absolutely unfit for human use.

Many times malnourished, thin, anemic babies, were found to be taking milk from tuberculous cows. The dairymen had been careless and neglected to have adequate tuberculin tests made of their herds. The patrons were equally as careless for not demanding milk from Tuberculin tested herd and an inspected dairy.

CHINCH BUGS ARE DUE TO REAPPEAR

tions should be made to fight them before the grain is cut, because as soon as the grain is cut off they start to migrate to the nearest corn field, where in large numbers they do serious damage. If control measures are not started until after the bugs migrate and get into the corn, the problem of control is a serious one.

Migration should be prevented by the use of a creosote barrier. The county agent will be glad to advise regarding the method of control if notified in time to make control possible. In sections where the bugs are especially bad and generally distributed, the control calls for absolute cooperation of all the farmers in the neighborhood if the pest is to be controlled effectively. Farmers who find chinch bugs in their grain fields should consult the county agent

Massey-Harris No. 3 Combined Side Rake and Tedder

This implement offers you all of the advantages of the most modern side delivery rake and then goes one further. It gives you in addition an excellent hay tedder into which it is quickly converted by simply moving a lever which causes the motion of the raking cylinder to be reversed at increased speed. Combining two machines in one, it saves you the cost of one, the time changing from one to the other when separate machines are used and yet requires no more space for storing than a side rake of the ordinary type.

Foundation is Substantial

A very strong main frame of high carbon angle steel, well braced and trussed carries the raking cylinder in detachable, easy running bearings and holds all parts in perfect alignment, giving the machine light draft and long life.

Handles Crop Without Loss

The teeth draw straight out of the hay without any tendency to carry it over the cylinder and form the windrows with such a steady, positive motion there is no beating or threshing of the heads or leaves.
